LIFE'S TROUBLED SOUL'

Lone Friend at Grave Of Coast Bank Robber

VANCOUVER, April 20.—(CP)—

One of life's troubled souls, plain bank robber George Harrison—was buried yesterday, mourned at the graveside by a lone friend.

The cold, grey rain service for the 28-year-old gunman was held in Mountain View Cemetery. No one was hurt, but 200 pallbearers were dimmed.

Harrison's only mourner was Hene Albert Proctor, who had known the trigger-happy young Torontonian back in Ontario. Others present were Major A. W. Martin, of the Salvation Army, five newspaper men, and a little dark man who explained: "I go down by train, I stay here."

In Toronto, his mother and sister mourned. They had claimed the body and arranged funeral services.

Before the solemn ceremony of interment, Proctor read the command service.

Tar Sands Lease Is Renewed

Abasand Co. Must Process 100,000 Tons Each Year

Renewal of the lease of 3,840 acres of the tar sand-burdened shores of the Athabasca river to Abasand Oil Ltd. is announced in the current issue of the Alberta Gazette.

The Abasand company, a private corporation conducted many tests before concluding that there was oil on the extraction of oil and bitumen from the sands. During the war, the project was heavily financially financed by the federal government.

It was delayed when fire destroyed the company's test plant.

WORK REQUIRED

Under the terms of the lease now issued the company is required to process 100,000 tons of oil each year for three years, 1953, 1956 and 1957 or lose their lease.

By 1957 the lease calls for treatment of 200,000 tons of sand and anthracite.

The company is required to pay $100,000 annually for the lease value plus on every barrel of oil produced from their plant and royalty at a rate yet to be determined.

He also warned that any seamen caught in "acts of violence" would be liable to criminal prosecution.

He was quoted as fire destroyed the company's test plant.

FINDING UNANIMOUS

It would have been good judgment and common practice for the CNS to accept the findings of the commission and to renew the lease.

The commission, all three members of a federally-appointed committee, heard the case, heard the evidence of the CSU, the company and the federal labor department.

The strike was called on the weekend and lockout was legal since both sides had waited so seven days after the commission had issued its report.

Since the strike started, he said, the company had been issuing letters and telegrams charging that the government was to blame for the strike.

He added that the company had charged as "utter nonsense" and without any foundation in fact."

INJUNCTION GIVEN

In Montreal a court injunction against the Canadian Manufacturing and Commercial Union's shipbuilding company cleared the dock of the freighter Mont St. Michel.

Regulations governing the manner in which ships are to be mated and sandands to treat them are fully outlined in the terms of the lease.

METHODS OUTLINED

The lease renewed for the company on the Athabasca river provides that the Canadian government's test plant at Abasand will be used to mate ships and to treat them as fully outlined in the terms of the lease.

$300 FINES PAID

They were each fined $300 or in default of payment sentenced to six months' imprisonment in Fort Saskatchewan jail. The fines were paid.

The two accused were banker and manager of a fan tan game operating at 10130 st. when street when he looted the premises last night.

Hesky loser, Cheng Long, was tried for the game he had won on that charge. Shaw, also, was found not guilty of the robbery charge.

CONFINED TO CHINESE

He demonstrated to court how they were played, made from winning bets and retained by the game.

Dubbed "Little Peanut" by her nurses, the daughter of Mrs. Alice Fordham of Vancouver succumbed before she had tasted her first meal.

She was to have been fed after 96 hours. She lived 60 hours following her birth Easter Sunday with a 3-pound 4-ounce sister.

Her mother had been confined to bed since the birth.

Meanwhile at Quebec, CNS crew members of the Saguenay Terminal freighter, which had been awaiting a court decision on whether the ship's owners would be granted an injunction.

MAIL IS DAMAGED As Tender Burns

LONDON, April 20.—(CP)—Premier Joseph Small was elected honorary chairman of the 10th congress of Soviet trade unions opened, last night, a Tass dispatch from Moscow reported today.

The plain-clad infant was born in his parents' home in the city center and from the outset doctors had little hope for her survival.

Gambler by choice, he was legalized in British Columbia, court was reminded.

The Children's Hour

"Between the dark and the daylight, When the night is beginning to longer, Comes a pause in the day's occupation. That is known as the Children's Hour." —Longfellow.

Do you remember the family that lived just a little way down the street? They were a picture. The taste isn't as important as the effect on the children. These little girls, ranging in age from three to seven, are the ones. Do you wonder after they left whether or not the little girls still live?

whether or not they were properly cared for and educated and educated to be useful, happy adults, or did you just dismiss it from your mind once the report had gone in that they were a picture? Fortunately there are people who care not just for the moment but for years. Back in 1911, the Sisters of Our Lady of the Assumption opened an orphanage which is now known as the O'Connell Institute. It is devoted to the care and maintenance of orphans and neophytes between the ages of two and sixteen. Many placements in the institution are through the Welfare agencies. The children attend the nearby school and later sent to High School. Every advantage is given to them to make a suitable means of livelihood. Many become nurses, stenographers, secretaries, typists, etc.

Fortunately too, you do care enough to help the Community Chest of Edmonton which allocates a portion of your contribution to the O'Connell Institute, one of the organizations supported by the Chest.

Profession or Labor Union?

It is a natural and very human thing for members of the Alberta Teachers Association to seek salaries in line with the important responsibilities they assume.

Attention has been drawn to the problem of teacher salaries most forcefully by the annual convention of the ATA now proceeding in Edmonton.

This is true in the plea that salaries should be raised so that "superior students" of the province would enter the teaching profession, rather than better-paying fields.

But methods by which these requests for professional salaries are brought to the public attention might be sharply questioned. These methods have included in Alberta the strike and the strike to strike. Teachers have no hesitation in invoking the provisions of the Alberta Labor Act, a piece of legislation designed to deal with industrial disputes.

By this type of action they place themselves in the same category as a laboring, craft or industrial union.

Coal, Oil and Economics

Industrial and provincial government economists are looking with growing alarm at the rapid decline in Alberta's coal industries.

And it is a paradoxical truth that it is another Alberta's oil which is driving the growing industries which is dealing the blows to its brother. Everywhere we read that our new baby, oil, is growing into a lusty youth who threatens to push his older, natural brother right out of the industrial brood.

A remedy for the situation must be found. The province should not have to lose either the money or employment which has obtained for years from the coal industry. And it seems that only one remedy can be found—new markets for coal.

Unfortunately, this is something which

But they still insist teaching is a profession, and with this insistence there is no quarrel.

A solution might be found in a revision of the Alberta School Act which would permit, as does the Alberta Labor Act, the appointment of a three-man arbitration panel whose findings should be final and binding on both parties to the dispute.

Such a provision would be of advantage for both school boards and teachers.

Latest strike threat from Alberta teachers came yesterday in Drumheller, where the school board delayed for months any announcement as to whether or not it would accept the findings of a Labor Act arbitration board. The teachers were forced to threaten a walkout before the trustees finally gave their approval to the findings of the arbitration board.

Education of Alberta's children is the point at issue. The school term should not be interrupted by arguments over salaries.

is much more easily said than done. It seems the only solution is, not to take coal to new markets, but to bring new markets to the coal, even if these markets have not yet been developed.

But what is to be done? By the same process through which man, ever since the industrial revolution, has been utilizing new materials and even waste materials, by discovering new uses for them via the test tube, the physiologist theories and the machine, a solution must be found.

The government of the province is reaping enormous profits from the oil industry. The province has demonstrated that the men and women of its university have the brains. Why not use the money and the brains to strike out into new fields to the profit and advantage of the entire province.

Is it not possible that Edmonton could, and should, do something on the same lines? Edmonton has the background for it in history as romantic as any on the North American continent. But, alas, this history has long been eaten up by the people of the city, long along by those who regard it only as a stopping point on a trip to somewhere else.

On the front of one of our large downtown buildings stands a plaque engraved in stone. In lines which read like pages to a saga which should be preserved, amplified and made available to the public. It would be interesting to know how many people in the city know the date Fort Edmonton was established; or how many have heard the story of the Fort's factor who after death, was shipped from here to England, and back to eastern Canada for burial, in a barrel? Rum?

It is natural for people to learn, a few people who are interested and who are endeavoring to do something about unearthing these stories. But it is unfortunate they do not have more support. This particular article, and others like it, are a source of information—the older people who have lived here for half a century or more are rapidly disappearing, along with their memories and effects.

There Is Profit in History

Every so often there is an announcement in the press saying some Canadian or American city has just celebrated its birthday, quite often with great ceremony and festivities. In some places they have even made the event a considerable attraction for tourists, their business and their pleasure.

SITTING ON THE FENCE

Chancellor Gubbins Loves Country

The clock struck midnight in the old town hall.

A light was burning in the top front window of the Sea Nest, where Sir Waldron Smithers, the government's chief tax collector, had his office.

In this room a one-man effort, with little help or advice, was put into effect. A typewriter and an ancient typewriter, bought for the nation something from a pig or warplane, anything from a set of surgical teeth to an aircraft-carrier.

Most of this had been achieved through the payment of income taxes, not by buying and selling commodities produced by others, but by selling in a kind of barter system the product of one woolly mind to the highest bidder.

The rest had been achieved through the payment of indirect taxation.

Although the woolly mind may not have known exactly what he wanted to do, it doesn't want to exagerate or a whole aircraft-carrier, it feels that over the years it must have sold off a couple of aircraft carriers and at least one 45-inch gun in a destroyer.

He then starts on the liquor trade.

Under the new Gubbins Budget, wine and spirits are almost given away. Indeed, there is a moment when he thinks of giving up the liquor trade, but a thought of one woolly bidder makes him better of it.

He also considers food subsidies. No income taxpayer who is not also a food subscriber benefits personally by food subsidies. He is obviously paying the only people who benefit—the only people who benefit are the wives of the income-taxpayers, who get their housekeepers' allowances.

A move like that might easily increase the cost of the health service.

The tax on pipe tobacco and cigarettes is also slashed and the country begins to look itself up.

To make up for it, the purchase tax on fur and jewelry is increased. The risk of being a millionaire, according to Gubbins, is also increased.

Consequently, while take all the tax off the rich, Gubbins' plan, it seems likely that dog-walkers will obtain alimony together from dear little dogs if each one is going to cost him a wonder.

Dark Doubts

There must be such a thing as avoiding taxation by abstemiousness.

Gubbins himself has done it, though not always in the way his amateur readers are thinking.

For years he has been turning down extra work because he doesn't think he can earn enough for one man to buy for the navy.

Therefore, it seems likely that dog-walkers will obtain alimony together from dear little dogs if each one is going to cost him a thousand.

The tax on your uncle is still up at midnight with pencil and paper, with all the world's spic and span, the grandeur of the sea, and even Little the Devil can sleep at last on a chair.

Down With Doggies

Chancellor Gubbins' chief difficulty is to reduce taxation while increasing the amount of the New Army and Air Force, and the health services, buying new tanks, planes, ships, and the like. Coal Board, knocking down half the country and rebuilding it somewhere else, and keeping Sir Waldron Smithers quiet.

This would suit either Gubbins fine, but not Chancellor Gubbins.

Under his Budget cyclists are already walking, paying no taxes.

Nobody but the biggest fool in the country (and there cannot be only one of him) would continue to do this.

He knows it will lose him the votes of all dog-walkers, but as he is not a member of Parliament, he needn't care.

He also puts a heavy tax on cyclists, who are always missing from the streets, ringed with bells, and loses all their votes, too.

Splendid. With one cent per bicycle, taking off the tax on the cyclists, walking, and plenty of his own money in his pocket for use, Gubbins' idea is a success.

He then starts on the liquor trade.

Under the new Gubbins Budget, wine and spirits are almost given away. Indeed, there is a moment when he thinks of giving up the liquor trade, but a thought of one woolly mind makes him better of it.

Give Them More

How can Chancellor Gubbins pay for the vast health services, the new army, the new air force, the new tank, plane, ship, and the like?

For years he has been turning down extra work because he doesn't think he can earn enough for one man to buy for the navy.

Calypso Singers Are Vital Part Of Life In Trinidad

If you want to be happy and never make a pretty woman All you have to do is just what I say Then you'll be happy, merry So, from a logical point of view, Astronomer's wife and Calypso singer than you.

He had considerable success, too, with a film song called "Wailin' Peace" and Sir Lance's audience join with him in this chorus:

For it's simple as one and one makes two.

Doctor others as you'd here them do.

For it's the only way that works And more of good will shall walk in peace.

"Calypso singers have always been quite alike to what I see," said Dorothy Dix, H. V. Kaltenborn, Walter Winchell and Irving Berlin, in reference to the delightfully musical group of reflection, philosophy and just plain mating calls that make such a kind of cabaret and Hollywood movie stars.

Some one has described him as "the most popular man in America" and Dorothy Dix, of Dorothy Dix, H. V. Kaltenborn and Irving Berlin, said that he goes forth to do battle in song.

Sir Lance will tell you—and the rest of New York night clubs and Hollywood movie stars.

His real name is Lance Lancelot and he is a native of Trinidad. "Lance" became the Trinidad calypso bandleader has his own special nobility.

"The calypso king who goes forth to do battle in song," Sir Lance will tell you—and the rest of New York night clubs and Hollywood movie stars.

These gentlemen have carried their songs throughout the world, from the Orient to Europe, from Africa to Australia, from India to South America.

They have been invited to carry on the name of the last great calypso.

Unless you let Sir Lance know, unless you get together at your club, you will be sure to hear him sing.

Alberta teachers meeting here last night heard Premier E. C. Manning describe public apathy toward educational matters as a major problem of the teaching profession.

U.S. Canine Wins Honors In City Show

Handsome, well-groomed boxer from sunny California with the imposing name of Monarch's Egg of Garkont, was best dog in the English Cocker Spaniel Club Show.

The champion is owned by Valley Grove Kennels, Tarzana, Calif. The California dog was also best of breed in the show's dog division.

Edmontonians did well in next breed prizes but were not out of the group winning circle for the second straight year.

Winners in group finals were from Vancouver, Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Regina, and the Maritimes. In addition to the best dog which also captured Boxer group honors.

The English Cocker Spaniel Club Show, now in its 10th year, was held over two days of competition.

Monarch's Egg 40 dogs competed and was keenest in his class.

Capital City Kennel Club showed its strength on the show opening day, Monday.

Monarch's group winners were best in show—Grove-Berger, Best in Show—Wiggins, Disbury, ATA president.

At business sessions earlier in the day, delegates heard a report on the proposed amalgamation of education departments at the recent legislative session.

Mr. Casey said legislation permitting principals and vice-principals to appeal transfers to a board of trustees was introduced in the legislature.

And the association's education department will be merged with the other two.

This does not mean that teachers have no appeal to a board of reference if an attempt is made to transfer them.

Edward Reardon first pleaded not guilty to the charge and, as is usual in such cases, the case was remanded for a week.

But Crown Prosecutor Donald Masson had apparently had enough. Accused will appear again April 27.

UNDECIDED GUILT BRINGS A REMAND

A man charged with theft had trouble making up his mind in court yesterday whether or not he had stolen a quantity of canned goods from a downtown department store.

Edward Reardon first pleaded not guilty to the charge and, as is usual in such cases, the case was remanded for a week.

Then Reardon decided that he was guilty after all.

But Crown Prosecutor Donald Masson had apparently had enough. Accused will appear again April 27.

Canada May Lose Out In Water Power Race

Canada may lose out on an equitable share of North America's rivers and lakes for power and irrigation projects.

Douglas Laird, Montreal, assistant general secretary of the Engineering Institute of Canada warned here yesterday.

School grants were overspent for a number of years, Mr. Casey said, and the surplus money was not available to which the teachers were now permitted to appeal to the minister of education.

"This does not mean that teachers have no appeal to a board of reference if an attempt is made to transfer them," he said.

Mr. Laird blamed the dominion's lack of interest in developing a Canadian engineer to the International Joint Commission, discussing power and irrigation projects, for the handicap.

Projects under discussion by the commission include the proposed diversion of the Milk River waters through Alberta, Saskatchewan and the United States.

Though the University of Alberta is equally short of students and laboratory room for engineers and students, it is the first university in Canada to establish a branch in petroleum engineering, Mr. Laird said.

RED CHEVRONS TO MARK BATTLE

One of the most costly battles of the First Great War will be re-enacted Saturday when the Edmonton Red Chevrons mark the 24th anniversary of the second battle of Ypres.

More than 1,000 men from the club will meet at the Centope Hotel Saturday for a dedication service and laying of a wreath there they will proceed to the King Edward hotel for the dinner banquet.

The board is composed of three representatives from States and three from Canada but is essentially Canadian, Mr. Laird said.

In the 18th century in Scotland marriage proposals were conveyed to girls of the Moravians by a committee of elders on the strength of a letter to the church.

Now done away with, the custom is still observed.

Members will hear L. Hobart trace the history of credit unions, and C. C. Gant discuss co-operative life insurance.

Automatic Frig Supplies In June

By Bea Thrifty

June is the month for brides. And June is the month for more automatic refrigerators. Yes! Fine words from distributors say many, many fans and electric refrigerators will be appearing come the second week in June.

But . . . orders are being taken right now. And a powerful lot of people have waited a powerfully long time for a spanking, sparkling new frig . . . so take it into consideration in your plans for a new one.

Incredibly as it is, the way in the world goes, most people who should dream a kingdom with increased supplies. But don't expect too much right away.

With the arrival of a lot more demand than supply and until the situation becomes less for the time being, prices in the frig line . . .

fall for the small mercies and reasons we were even hungrier to buy one.

Bully for our side girls! That's right, the kitchen favorite . . . turned corndog bed is not only back on the shelves . . . it's gone down a few cents in price.

Yep! It's down to 32¢ a tin now . . . which is still a lot of pennies . . . but it's a lot of meat, too.

It's available in most city stores right now . . .

Those warm, spring days I only dream about, are here again, of double shorts as long as I like.

What else do we call "fossiles" after this? And "moonskin" been? After all, it's still a lot of pennies . . . and cement sidewalks is a dreadful torturous thing.

Anyways . . . when I arrive at the new house after a session in the sun, I'll be wearing a pair of soft, comfortable "securites". They're made of quilted plastic cotton are bright colors and washable . . . and they're the best there is. And I haven't been sorry once.

They're needless and strictly restful . . . but, they feel wonderful.

A summertime, natural, tanning space drops down to 10¢ a day, even down in sweat suits. I'm a fan.

And the last word is . . .

WHY GROW OLD

Number of Calories Tells Figure Story

By Josephine Lowman

I have lots of fun with the classes I teach for a few weeks each year. Not long ago a gay pupil, with lots of personality, came to me with a bit of weight.

"I've got a lot of weight," she said, "and I've never been瘦 (thin). I've never been瘦 (thin) in my life. I'm not tall, I'm not strong, I'm not good-looking, and I'm not popular."

"I'm not fat, either," she said, "but I'm not slim, either. I'm just not thin."

"I'm not fat, either," she said, "but I'm not slim, either. I'm just not thin."
